Aside from the obvious: that no drone should be in the airspace defined by my property boundaries, or allowed to use any kind of sensor into my property or at my person without my permission, I do not want to hear any of them. I am sensitive to noise and the buzz of drones would be an assault on the privacy of all of us. They need to be silent or restricted to pre-determined routes that already suffer from noise, such as following the routes of interstates.

As I live in a rural area I am opposed to the concept that drones should be routed in such a way that they visually and aurally impact the fewest number of people. People who live in cities have committed themselves to acceptance of a certain amount of sight and sound pollution. Those of us in rural areas, though few, live there because we value the peace and quiet.
