

“The Unmanned Aircraft Systems (UAS) best practices demonstrates the power and importance of multi-stakeholder initiatives. This is an important first step supporting responsible privacy practices for both the public and private sectors. The rapid pace of UAS innovation promises to bring forward significant benefits to society and our economy, which will require ongoing assessments to maximize consumer protection, trust and confidence,”

Craig Spiezle, Executive Director & President Online Trust Alliance. <https://otalliance.org>